Needs Assessment

Women who are interested in becoming surgeons or who are early in their surgical career may perceive or experience unique challenges. Therefore, the aim of this event is to outline the challenges faced by women in surgery, demonstrate ways in which the obstacles have been overcome, and facilitate mentor/mentee relationships among women interested in surgery.

Course Overview

The Women in Surgery (WIS) symposium is an academic event focused on issues unique to women in surgery. This one day symposium will offer participants the opportunity to hear from successful surgeons, and to interact and exchange ideas.

Objectives

Completion of this course will enable participants to:
• Identify the need for women in surgery and how it will effect patient care in the future.
• Identify the issues and challenges confronting women in surgery as they seek to advance in the changing, but still male-dominated field.
• Create mentor/mentee relationships and improve upon existing ones.
