CONGRATULATIONS DR. CRANE

Effective July 1, 2015 Robert Crane, MD was promoted to Clinical Professor of Family Medicine. Dr. Crane has had a distinguished career in the Department of Family Medicine since joining the faculty in 1996 as a Clinical Assistant Professor. As a result of his consistent efforts in both resident and medical student education as well as tireless policy work on both the local and national scene, he was promoted to Clinical Associate Professor in 2008. Since then his trajectory has continued upwards, particularly in the area of public policy and tobacco cessation.

Dr. Crane helped facilitate efforts at the local level in at least 7 states, with over 75 locations adopting legislation to increase the age of tobacco sales. His work was instrumental in New York City raising their tobacco sales age to 21 in 2013. Over the past 3 years, he has worked tirelessly to bring stakeholders together and build networks of policy activists. Dr. Crane’s public health efforts have been recognized through numerous state and national awards including; 2014 C. Everett Koop National Award from the American Lung Association, 2011 Public Health Award from the American Academy of Family Physicians and the 2010 Family Physician Mentor of the Year Award from the Ohio Academy of Family Physicians. He is an inspiration to those of us who know him, both here in Columbus, as well as around the country. Congratulations Dr. Crane!
Welcome to our new Family Medicine Residents!

Leon McDougle, MD, MPH, Associate Professor of Family Medicine, Associate Dean for Diversity and Cultural Affairs, and Chief Diversity Officer, was recently selected to serve on The White House Office of Science and Technology Policy and the White House Council on Women and Girl’s Excellence and Innovation through Diversity STEM Workforce Committee.

As part of this STEM Workforce Committee, Dr. McDougle will engage with senior leaders from academia, industry, professional societies, and government for a discussion on how to change the conversation around inclusion of under-represented groups in STEM. The Committee will focus on achieving greater excellence and productivity, while addressing complexities of enhancing diversity in the STEM workforce. Dr. McDougle will travel to Washington, DC to participate in two full days of discussion and planning.
